Mayor Lattus reviews 2013, looks forward to 2014

Charlotte Smith
Editor

With four new businesses opening in Hickman, Mayor David Lattus sees many positives coming out of 2013 for the City of Hickman. "I see the positives definitely outweighing the negatives," he said. "We saw the opening of four businesses in our city limits including Bumper to Bumper Auto Parts and Hardware, Gannon's Rentals and Bait Shop, Pat Parnell's Red Door Salon beauty shop, and Miss Martha's Restaurant."

Bailey job shadows Pharmacist, follows in his footsteps

Charlotte Smith
Editor

After job shadowing with a pharmacist in his hometown during his senior year of high school, MedCare Pharmacist Chuck Bailey found his passion. "I was so impressed with his (the pharmacist's) knowledge of medicine and his ability to help others that I decided to invest myself in this profession."

Bailey, who has been dispensing medicine and made himself available for consultations, has been in Hickman at MedCare Pharmacy since August 2013. Most of his previous experience has been in the independent retail setting. However, he has worked in a variety of clinical roles in hospitals including Ambulatory care, adult medicine and psychiatric medicine.

"I love having one-on-one patient contact," he said. "Pharmacists are the most accessible healthcare professionals and I pride myself in being available for counsel every day."

Looking back over the last 10 years, Bailey points out that there have been many changes in his industry in the last decade. "Traditionally, pharmacists have mainly existed in a 'pour, lock, and stick' role of dispensing only," Bailey commented. "Today, pharmacists exist in more of a clinical role."

"Pharmacists exist in hospitals where they routinely round with physicians to see patients, and many pharmacists have their own clinics where they manage a variety of disease states as hypertension, hyperlipidemia, and diabetes."

Bailey feels having a broader clinical knowledge of medicine and disease states assist pharmacists to be better equipped to be integral parts of the health care team. "This ultimately provides optimum patient care," Bailey added. "It is my hope that this clinical role will only be expanded in the future."

Bailey obtained his bachelors in Health Science from UT at Martin and obtained his Pharm.D. from the McWhorter School of Pharmacy at Samford University in Birmingham, Ala. His family is originally from

The year 2013 brought many successes, retirements and losses

Charlotte Smith

In 2013 a great number of terrific citizens were lost, but in January 2013 the City of Hickman lost Dr. Richard White at the age of 90. He was long known for his desire to be a servant of the people. Dr. White began his practice in 1954. "He always had the city at heart," stated Carolyn Coffey, who always looked at Dr. White with respect.

Our next big event in January was the tragic loss of West Baptist Church on Broadway in Hickman. The fire broke out on a cold Wednesday morning around 7 a.m. within a few hours little remained of the church last filled with such life and happiness, especially during their December children's Christmas program. Bro. Jason Sipes was the first to see the flames as he sat at his family's breakfast table drinking coffee and reading his Bible.

Since the fire the congregation has been meeting at Fulton County Schools and the members of the First United Methodist Church graciously offered the use of the Life Enrichment Center. A new location has since been selected and ground work has already been completed at the new site on the 1099 ByPass.

In February we learned that Bumper to Bumper had agreed to purchase the Gannon buildings and after some remodeling the store opened for business in the 6,000 sq. ft. store. Jack and Helen Gannon retired in September 2012 after 40 years of doing business in Hickman.

The Fulton County Pilots 1993 Basketball State-Runner Up Team was recognized in the Fulton County High School gym with many former players and coaches Sam Miller, Sr. and Sam Miller, Jr. present. The Fulton County Middle School boys and girls

Discovery Park offers "Tour through the Solar System

(UNION CITY, TN) — Janet Ivey, a 12-time Emmy and 5-time Gracie Award winning actress, is presenting her live show "Tour of the Solar System" at Discovery Park of America in Union City, Tenn. on January 3, 4 and 5! Friday and Saturday the performances are at 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. and Sunday at 1 and 3 p.m. Janet can be seen on more than 140 PBS stations across the USA. She will be performing as her character from Janet's Planet™ at Discovery Park. Once inside the park, the cost of the show is $5.00.

Janet's Planet is 21st century theatre; combining a live theatre experience, with music from Gustav Holst's "The Planets, Op. 32, complemented by multi-media and experiential learning, Janet's Planet produces a LIVE show that encourages scientific literacy. The show is perfect for children in kindergarten through 5th grade, but can be enjoyed by all!

Through the use of humor, theatrical antics, visual illusions, enticing graphic elements, and opportunities to join Janet on stage, the audience is fully engaged in the experience of helping to find the necessary elements in space to rebuild the supercomputer, Galileo. One young astronaut in training will even get to walk on the moon! You won't want to miss this intergalactic problem-solving mission fueling STEAM (Science/Technology/Engineering/Art & Design/Math) potential in young earthlings everywhere. After the show,

World Race Missionary Haney spends Christmas in San Mateo

Hickman native Jena Bea Haney spent her Christmas in San Mateo at New Beginnings Camp where she and her team did ministry during December. Haney embarked on this life changing mission back in September. Since leaving Hickman she has been to Muizenburg, South Africa; Mbabane, Swaziland; Maputo, Mozambique; and San Mateo, Philippines.

"On Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, we held Vacation Bible School for street kids," stated Haney. "We spent time with each other watching Christmas movies and made a huge dinner for our team, the Filipino family we were living with, and the Chinese couple who are also missionaries that lived at the camp as well."

One of Haney's Christmas wishes

was to see every child at El Shaddai fully sponsored. She spent time there back in October and was paired with a nine-year-old girl named Life. "The little girl took hold of my heart without even realizing it and kept it there with her on top of that mountain when I left Swaziland," she said. "I knew I had signed up for 11 goodbyes while visiting 11 different countries, but the connections I made with people in each country will leave their forever mark on me."

When leaving that country on the first of November Haney had no clue how much she was truly leaving behind until she was sitting on a sandy beach under a tree house in San Felipe, Phil-

Active Shooter Survival training for school system, law enforcement

After a recent meeting with the Fulton County School System, Kentucky State Police (KSP) has offered to hold a training program at the school on Friday, Jan. 3, titled Active Shooter Survival for School Staff. The training will take place in the morning at the school in Hickman. J.L. Atwill has been acting as the liaison between the school district and KSP. Rick Garland has been the point of contact with the school system.

"This is training specifically for school staff; however, it is critical to include local law enforcement agencies so that they will know what the current training is being taught to school staff," stated Brent White. "Law enforcement will NOT be deployed during this training session; however, the training consists of classroom instruction and scenarios."

The one year anniversary of the Newtown, Conn., shooting at Sandy Hook Elementary School was on Friday, Dec. 14. Adam Lanza, age 20, took his own life after his shooting spree in the school after taking his mother's life. Former Fulton County Schools Superintendent Dennis Bledsoe discussed the school's safety procedures following the aftermath at Sandy Hook.

lippines. During a circle prayer time for El Shaddai, Haney and the other members of her team voiced their prayers out loud. “I began to pray and my voice was so shaky from the tears I was fighting back. I wanted to explode with tears,” revealed Haney in one of her blogs. “The longer I prayed the more I let my tears flow, as other squad mates voiced their prayers I sat with my head down as I just sobbed. It was hitting me just how much love I left there. I prayed all night for my home on the mountain. I voiced out name after name of children that impacted me while I was there. I prayed for Charmaine, I prayed for Rachel, and I prayed for Katie. I cried as I said each name. The Lord was revealing to me a love I wasn’t completely foreign to, I have felt that feeling of strong love when I was in La Vega, Dominican Republic at New Hope Girls Academy. If you know me you know my heart is in the DR and I plan to go back. So, I was completely shocked as this feeling flooded over me about El Shaddai.”

Haney’s next country to visit is Malaysia where she will be doing mission work for the entire month of January. “From there I will go to Vietnam, Cambodia and Thailand,” she said. “Then in May my squad and I will go to the Carribeans to finish the last three months of my trip in the Dominican Republic, Haiti, and Puerto Rico.”

Definitely a world-wind trip and now coming into the last half of her year long mission trip, Haney is getting use to the traveling. “The long flights and bus rides it takes to get from country to country are required, but that’s the fun part about this trip,” added Haney. “I have gotten sick and recovered from Malaria, saw God transform people right before my eyes, and kissed so many dirty, snotty faces I lost count after the first month.”

But, God has showed up every month in every country in the coolest and craziest ways she said. “I’ve learned about the freedom I have in Christ and just how amazing His love is for all of us,” Haney commented. “Even the ones of us who are Another positive in the eyes of Mayor Lattus was the opening of the new Discovery Park of America in Obion County, Tenn. “It, too, is a real asset to our community,” he added.

On the sad side of things, we lost our long time doctor and former Mayor, Dr. Richard White. Also, a long time landmark in the community was destroyed by fire, West Hickman Baptist Church.

“In 2014 I would like to see us continue our efforts to clean up our town,” stated Mayor Lattus. “I would like to take this opportunity to encourage everyone to take pride in their homes and business property and make our community more attractive.”

Mayor Lattus believes the association with organizations such as the Mississippi River Cities and Towns Initiatives, it will hopefully encourage some businesses to take a long look at us (City of Hickman) and that this will provide good jobs for our community. “I would like to see a continued improvement in our infrastructure and also continued progress on improving our financial situation.”

broken and a little turned around on this road called life.”

Her expectations of what a year-long mission trip would look like got thrown out the door in month one. “I guess with any mission trip you expect to go in and change their world and make it better,” she said. “Us world racers learn pretty quickly that is definitely not in our strength. Like the documentary, Furious Love says, ‘We love them and He will change them.’”

“We are here to come along side ministries and do whatever they need,” she said. “Eat a lot less food than we are used to getting, wear the same three outfits and most importantly and pretty much the best part, love these people God gives us each month. We get to go into the poorest and darkest of places and just be His light and show His love to whoever we encounter, which is the coolest thing I’ve ever been called to do. I leave a little bit of my heart in each country, which I thought would be hard but it is a huge blessing because I now have family all around the world!”

Local District Court judge participates in 2013 District Judges Fall College

District Court Judge Hunter B. Whitesell, who represents Fulton and Hickman counties participated in the 2013 District Judges Fall College that took place Nov. 4-6 in Lexington. The Administrative Office of the Courts provided the judicial education program for the state's district judges.

The District Court judges attended courses about Veterans Treatment Courts, juvenile justice, human trafficking, cyber crime, substance abuse, court technology, and court interpreting for individuals who are deaf or non-English-speaking.

The judges also heard from Chief Justice of Kentucky John D. Minton Jr. about trends in the state court system.

"Much about how the courts operate is different from when I took the bench 15 years ago," said District Court Judge

Donald E. Armstrong Jr., who was elected president of the Kentucky District Judges Association at the college. "Changing demographics, the budget crisis and new technology are affecting how judges carry out our work. It's important for us to adapt to better serve the public and the legal community."

The college also covered emergency protective orders and domestic violence orders, the bail schedule under House

Bill 463 and new legislation and case law.

District Court judges handle juvenile matters, city and county ordinances, misdemeanors, violations, traffic offenses, probate of wills, arraignments, felony probable cause hearings, small claims involving $2,500 or less, civil cases involving $5,000 or less, voluntary and involuntary mental commitments and cases relating to domestic violence and abuse. In Fiscal Year 2012, 752,821 District Court cases were filed statewide.

The college included 17.75 hours of continuing education credit for the district judges. The AOC Division of Judicial Branch Education provides continuing education for the elected officials.

Administrative Office of the Courts

The AOC in Frankfort is the operations arm for the state court system. The AOC supports the activities of nearly 3,300 court system employees and 403 elected justices, judges and circuit court clerks. As the fiscal agent for the state court system, the AOC executes the Judicial Branch budget.

The Hickman Courier wishes all these good folks a very happy birthday! Help make their days more special by remembering them with a card or a phone call.

January 6 – Danny Bryan, Allen Mudd, and Regina Calhoun.

January 7 – Kathleen Johnson, Taylor Moss, Fancy James, Denisha Pierce, and Leah Rash.

January 8 – Roy Miller, Jack Amberg, Jimmy Love, Bubba Weatherly, George Evans, Mariah Cristin Adkins, April Harrison, Mike Woods, and Kim Hagler.

January 9 – Ricky Callison, Scotty Shell, Carol Parker, Kaylee Evans, Kimberly Evans, Danny Ray Crittenden, Jr., and Ramona Fitz.

Safety

"The safety of our students, faculty, staff, and visitors to our school district is our top priority. I appreciate the work that our SBDM committees and school administrators are doing in evaluating each building's safety plan and ensuring the implementation of that plan. Rick Garland, district safety coordinator, does an excellent job monitoring our district wide safety plan as well as working with our local and state police. "Aaron Collins, current Fulton County Schools Superintendent.

This training will hopefully give our staff a better understanding of what could possibly happen if we ever had an active shooter in one of our buildings," added Garland. "We are here to keep our students safe, I feel this training will help us accomplish that."

KSP will seek assistance from law enforcement agencies to assist with the scenarios. Local law enforcement asked to assist include members of the Fulton County Sheriff's Office, Hickman Police Department, and Fulton Police Department. The training is being sponsored by the Fulton County Sheriff's Office and Fulton County Emergency Management.

Senior Spirit

By Christina Corrigan

The year of 2013 is over and we are starting a Happy New Years all over again. Hopefully everyone makes a New Year's Resolution.

Starting off in 2014 would you like to go on more vacations and get out of the house more than you did last year. Put some old music on to remember the good old days of when you were a kid listening to some Dean Martin or Conway Twitty. Become lazy by laying in the tub stretched out all day and getting out by going off to sleep. Going off to work two hours earlier than you need to be there. Finish any unplanned projects that you have not finished in awhile. Eating healthier is important as you age in life. Go to church more than you have been going all of last year. Sitting by the fire and reading a book until you fall asleep. Take early morning walks until you get tired. Try new recipes by making a mess in the kitchen, but having fun with children or grandchildren while doing so.

teams were both runner’s up in the District Tournament held in Fulton.

Two long time employees retired. Carolyn Coffey, a City of Hickman employee for 42 years, said her goodbyes. While Fulton County Chief Deputy Danny Zickefoose hung up his badge after beginning his retirement on a full-time basis in 1997, working under Sheriff Corky Hill.

A new City Manager was hired in March 2013. Johnny McTurner was chosen to lead the city on a 5-0 vote. McTurner was brought in from Obion County, Tenn., after the position had been vacant for approximately six months while the Commission searched for former City Manager Larry Myatt’s replacement.

Additional good news in March brought Governor Steve Beshear to Fulton County to announce the county’s newest industry, MVP Group International, Inc. The new facility was located in Fulton County’s Industrial Park on Hwy 307.

March also brought to close a case that shocked our little river community in January 2012, Tommy Lattus plead guilty to murder, but mentally ill in the shooting death of the late Hickman Mayor Charles Murphy. For more than a year, the community watched as Lattus was first deemed incompetent to stand trial, but then had his day in court. The plea agreement was entered on Friday, March 8 in a Fulton County courtroom.

A traffic stop on March 25 eventually escalated to a shooting by a Fulton man Joshua White. A standoff ensued in a public housing complex for approximately two hours before another individual and two children safely exited the apartment. White would eventually surrender an hour later.

An end of the era of full service gas stations ended in April 2013 when “The Station,” located at the corner of 7th Street and Moscow Avenue, closed. Owners Steve and Cindy Parker decided after almost a century of operating the business that it was time to remove the gas pumps because of tougher EPA regulations.

School news over the last couple of months saw test scores and Pilot Academy successes celebrated while budget cuts brought a reduction in staffing. At the same time city officials welcomed the opening of Bumper to Bumper in the former Gannon building, Pat’s Red Door Salon and Gannon’s Retail and Bait Shop.

In the middle of May we said goodbye to Thomas Swayne Byrd, major supporter and influential person of the local ferry. We also saw a third generation Ramsey appointed as fire chief for the Hickman Volunteer Fire Department.

Longtime educator Tom Pyron passed his baton on to Terry Sullivan as the new Principal at the Fulton County Area Technology Center. As May came to a close, we saw 35 high school graduates, ready to embark on a new chapter in their lives.

Nearing the half way point in 2013, we remember a couple of fallen classmates, Zackery Pollard and Joe Coffey, from the class of 2003. We also raised awareness about cancer, raising over $38,000 for research to find a cure to the dreaded diseases that takes so many lives. Newton’s, a staple in Hickman for over 60 years, closed their doors. The Fulton County School Board hired Aaron Collins to be superintendent of Fulton County Schools.

In July, three fires kept the volunteer fire department on alert, while a group of bicycle enthusiasts stopped during the “Ride the Fault Line” bicycle trip across four states. As the heat of the summer continued to keep us looking for cool places to rest, Hickman Mayor David Lattus traveled to Minnesota to take part in the Mississippi River Cities and Towns Initiative. Sunny skies provided the perfect opportunity for people to enjoy the annual Cayce United Methodist Church’s annual barbecue supper. Rain at the right times, provided farmers young and old with a bumper crop of sweet corn.

Now, into the second half of the year, Hickman-Fulton Counties RECC and Hickman Electric reached an agreement setting boundary lines, signing on the dotted line. Governor Steve Beshear paid a visit to Fulton County to announce that Kayser Automotive Systems was going to make their United States headquarters in Fulton. Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner James Comer can now say that he has been to every nook and cranny in the state of Kentucky following his visit to the Kentucky Bend.

Good news continued as Fulton County schools brought back Intro to the Arts. On the down side, we learned that two more buildings would be demolished, including the “Old Bank Building” or former White building on Carroll Street. It was torn down a short time later, but the second building, the old EW James building, still remains standing. With August coming to a close, we recognized the longevity of Bermag, who celebrated 20 years in business in 2013.

With fall nipping at our heels, we saw a home go up in flames and an 18 year tradition end. The tradition of the Fulton County Area Technology Center building a home ended when funding was cut. More perfect weather aided in the success of the Chamber’s Ice Cream Social and the 20th Annual Pecan Festival. John Varden became keeper of the time, as he took on the task of repairing the courthouse clock. He continues to wind it each week, so it will continue to let us know what time it is.

Three months to go to close out 2013, we congratulated Judge Tim Langford on being named 2013 Outstanding Trial Judge. West Hickman Baptist held a ground breaking ceremony under a tent to keep dry as the rain poured down. Mr. Wilson Fowler turned a century old, full of life and able to reflect on his life of 100 years. Shootings in the Brownsville area concerned residents as houses with families inside were the seemingly intended targets. An alumni football game between former high school players from Fulton County and Fulton City schools, brought a large crowd to Sanger Field to raise funds for their respective schools’ football programs.

In the eleventh month of the year we remembered former Civil War soldier Wilson Marion Bacon and inducted Kirk Barnett, Jerome Warren, Steve Cheirs and Mancell Elam into the Fulton County Hall of Fame. Veterans were saluted on Veterans Day and Ladarrian Polk, graduating from basic training, received the “Sapper Spirit” award, displaying significant ability to motivate others. The Hickman Chamber of Commerce recognized Hub’s as the Business of the Year and presented Fred Pierson of Pierson’s with a special community service award. Pierson’s closed their doors after 90 years of business in Hickman.

News that the era of David Gallagher as Judge/Executive would end in 2014 when Gallagher announced that he would not seek a third term. Mary Cheirs also announced her retirement from the education field after 42 years, closing out November.

In our final month of 2013, the county and two cities, prepared for another possible Ice Storm similar to the likes of 2009. Fortunately, it didn’t get that bad, but it did close school for a few days while providing children with a winter playground to enjoy. A reward was offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the theft of a John Deere tractor and a utility trailer after it was stolen from property located near Cayce, Ky. The last Courier of 2013 brought several more photos of Christmas joy, including one that showed how much everyone should enjoy a little Christmas magic. Over 500 gift bags were provided for SAP members and inmates at the Fulton County and Hickman County jails with area churches and private citizens donating to baskets, creating Christmas happiness for all.

Sports In Kentucky
For the Hickman Courier
By Bob Watkins

Reflections.
Kentucky 73, Louisville 66.
Fans (and CBS) got their money’s worth at Rupp Arena last week. Louisville at Kentucky was entertainment at its delicious best: Adrenaline, antagonist-protagonist (coaches), passion, rise-and-fall drama, more passion, players appreciated the crowd, then a Bill Keightly “whew, glad that’s over!” joy. For the other side, a few tears, lots of jeers, “we got cheated!” rant then, “How about those Charlie Strong Cards!?”

Beautiful college game. With personal bias toward the idea – home team should win for sake of those who fill an arena.”

Kentucky 73, Louisville 66.
It served to remind us of these things.

√ Fans shouldn’t have to wait 13 games into a season for a high caliber home game. Until Saturday neither team had played a home game worthy of their fans. Zero.

Likes of UNC Asheville and Texas Arlington at Rupp Area, and Fairfield-Uncaseville and Missouri-Kansas City at Yum Center were no more than show time for sideline screaming coaches.

Kentucky 73, Louisville 66 observations.

√ Russ Smith’s flying dunk over Julius Randle was large on style points and might have been a five-pointer except it was more a statement of one-on-everybody that counted two.

√ Where a game is played, how it is officiated makes national rankings irrelevant and is a sucker bet for those who believe point spreads.

√ A Louisville newspaper story was bound to tell UofL fans – Peyton Siva and Gorgui Dieng don’t play here anymore.

√ A Lexington newspaper story was bound to elevate a John Calipari remark into papal encyclical: “We grew up today.”

If Kentucky grew up last week, and UofL, too, forgive me, but I am left to wonder – for two-and-half months and 13 games in – two ball coaches who could balance the Bluegrass State’s budget by writing one check each, what on earth have they been doing?

2013 REFLECTIONS
Sports Person of the Year candidates?

1. Teddy Bridgewater quarterbacked Louisville to a 12-1 season, bowl win and earned his college degree.

2. Antonio Andrews at Western Kentucky was first team All-American and led the nation (Football Bowl Subdivision) with 3,161 all-purpose yards, second-highest single season total in history.

3. Rick Pitino led Louisville to an NCAA title and was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

4. Bowling Green High School football team won another state title, had a 14-0 season and extended its win streak to 44 in a row.

Sports Person of 2013 winner is ...

The Secret Santa in Louisville.

Insisting on anonymity, a person connected to UofL athletics went to a Wal-Mart in Jefferson County a week before Christmas and paid $13,000 to cover all lay-away items for 169 families. Merry Christmas.

2013 HIGHLIGHTS
√ In April, second time in three years a team from Kentucky won the NCAA men’s basketball championship. Louisville Cardinals.

√ Rick Pitino. His Hall of Fame induction speech included: “If a person has five great friends in life, then I’m the Warren Buffett (of friendships). I’ve had and have so many. Being at Louisville has taught me what true family is about.”

√ In September Dr. Orlando ‘Tubby’ Smith was inducted into the University of Kentucky Athletics Hall of Fame. A place next to Adolph Rupp.

√ In December Cumberlands University’s football team played in the NAIA championship game. Patriots fans celebrated a 13-0 regular season.

√ Ex-Kentucky player DeMarcus Cousins took more than 100 San Diego-area children Christmas shopping, picked up the tab and gave their families $50 each.

√ Ex-Western Kentucky running back Bobby Rainey, after three NFL teams in three seasons, became feature back at Tampa Bay.

√ In October the Pittsburgh Pirates’ first winning season in 21 years, earned a playoff spot, after which Clint Hurdle and Andrew McCutchen won Manager of the Year and Most Valuable Player Awards respectively.

√ In November at Slugger Museum in Louisville, Hall of Famer Bill Mazeroski auctioned his Pirates memorabilia. His family and Pirates charities will share $1.79 million. Mazeroski’s Uniform worn in Game 7 of the 1960 World Series sold for $632,500.

√ E-mail item from a life-long Cincinnati Reds fan in Whitesburg. Recalling Big Red Machine 1970s playoffs games with the Pittsburgh Pirates, “... me and a bunch of high school friends, some of whom were Pirates fans, cut class in the afternoons to watch NL playoff games. (But) the best ever was April 4, 1974. Six of us were at Riverfront Coliseum to see Hank Aaron tie Babe Ruth’s home run record. I still have my ticket stub.” – Ben Gish voters did not include Florida State’s Jameis Winston on their ballots.

√ In December 13 per cent of 900-plus Heisman Trophy

WORTH REPEATING DEPT.
√ FOX News reporter Jen Floyd Engel said “We have come to believe, in college basketball nobody is more important than the coach. We have built a Mt. Rushmore of Dean, Coach K, Bob Knight, Jim Boheim, Bill Self, John Calipari, Rick Pitino, on and on and on while relegating players to props they expertly move around on dry-erase boards. This, too, is a lie.”

√ In July ex-Indiana star Cody Zeller was asked, “any regrets about going back to college for 2012 season.?”

“No regrets at all. I wanted the college experience and I enjoyed being on campus. College is a one time thing. You can’t get it back.”

√ Former Western Kentucky U. basketball player Orlando Mendez-Valdez said: “Playing in the NBA is the dream of every kid, but as you get older, you start realizing there’s a lot more to life than basketball. That’s the direction my life has taken. Before, basketball was everything to me. But I realize it’s also important to be a good husband and a good father when we start having kids.”

√ In October NBA commissioner David Stern who is credited for one-and-done, said, “The drum beat I hear about colleges not liking what they refer to one-and-done, (our) developmental league will accept players (who) are 18 and (we) will do a better job of educating them than the college programs they are in.”

FINALLY
In October John Calipari said “We are borderless. We’re everywhere. No corner is left untouched by the blue mist. UK (is) the gold standard of college athletics. We don’t just play college basketball. We ARE college basketball.”

So, Catch Phrase-of-the-Year for ‘13? Posterize? Sequestration? Duck Dynasty? Obamacare?

My choice: Blue Mist.
And so it went in 2013.

DISCOVERY PARK OF AMERICA DEBUTS TOUR OF THE SOLAR SYSTEM - During Flight and Space Month Janet Ivey's 'Tour of the Solar System' will be debuting at Discovery Park of America in Union City, Tenn. Ivey created the award-winning children's educational television program geared for six to ten years olds in 2000. (Photo submitted.)

the children attending will complete a craft project to take home.

Janet is thrilled to be making her debut at Discovery Park of America. "As a west Tennessee native and hailing from Covington, Tenn., I am proud that west Tennessee has been the innovator with such a theme park. I am really excited to perform my show and forge a friendship with Discovery Park of America."

Vehicle pursuit has speeds in excess of 90 mph Sheriff

A vehicle pursuit that began around 2:30 a.m. on Friday morning, Dec. 27 in Graves County made its way into Fulton County around 6:30 a.m. According to a press release from Graves County Sheriff Dewayne Redmon, a fugitive was captured after a lengthy vehicle pursuit involving several counties.

“The suspect led as many as 10 law enforcement officers from six different agencies on a high speed pursuit for several miles,” further stated the release. “The pursuit traveled down several roadways including KY 121, US 45, the Purchase Parkway, KY 307 and several secondary roads and into several fields before being apprehended in the Water Valley community at the intersection of KY 94 and KY 1529.”

The initial 911 call stated that a male on KY 1213 near Fancy Farm had been assaulted. Another call came in stating that gunshots had been fired and the perpetrator had fled in a maroon Ford Taurus.

The pursuit, which began on Spalding Road in Graves County eventually continued into Fulton County as the suspect traveled on the Parkway. A Reserve Deputy from Fulton County joined the pursuit at the 7 mile marker on the Parkway. They continued north on KY 307, passing Wesley United Methodist Church, eventually entering a field, at speeds in excess of 90 to 100 mph. The deputy’s pursuit in Fulton County lasted 32 minutes. The pursuit then continued in the area of the Hickman/Fulton County line where the suspect traveled in other fields. Assisting with the pursuit was McCracken County Sheriff John Hayden.

The suspect, Jonathan Valles, was apprehended when law enforcement used the PIT maneuver to disable his vehicle during the collision.

Valles was detained with force after he refused to exit his vehicle. He was transported by the Mayfield/Graves County EMS to the Jackson Purchase Medical Center for injuries.

Valles was wanted on a parole violation warrant from the Probation and Parole Board and also a fleeing and evading warrant from Graves County where he had previously ran on foot from deputies back in the summer when they attempted to apprehend him from a house in Mayfield. He is facing more charges from last Friday’s event including at least 10 counts of Wanton Endangerment, 1st Degree and Fleeing and Evading, 1st Degree, Theft by Unlawful taking over $500, Resisting Arrest and other charges.

Upon his release from the hospital, Valles will be lodged in the Graves County Jail.

KSP gears up for New Year’s Eve

The Kentucky State Police (KSP), Post 1 is gearing up for the New Years Eve holiday period, which is traditionally a time for festive events where people gather to ring in a new year. Many of these celebrations include the consumption of alcohol, lending way to the potential for impaired drivers on Kentucky roadways. The KSP have teamed up with local law enforcement agencies on an aggressive Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over enforcement campaign. The official holiday enforcement period began at 6 p. m. on Monday, Dec. 30 and extends through 11:59 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 1, 2014.

KSP offers the following tips: If you drink, don’t drive; If you are impaired, call a taxi, or get a sober friend or family member to pick you up; Stay where you are until you are sober; and Take the keys from someone if you think he/she is too impaired to drive

Motorists will notice increased patrol along these routes during the holiday period with a zero tolerance approach to occupant restraint, speeding, and DUI offenses. These offenses along with various other careless driving habits continue to be the primary cause of injury and fatal collisions.

During the 2012/2013 New Years Eve holiday period, there were no fatalities reported in Kentucky. Citizens can contribute to highway safety during the holiday period by reporting erratic, impaired or speeding drivers to KSP toll-free hotline at 1-800-222-5555. Callers will remain anonymous and should give a description of the vehicle, location, direction of travel and license number if possible.
